IS YOUR JOINT #HEALTH SUPPLEMENT @CONSUMERLAB APPROVED? @USANAinc Procosa Proudly Passes Rigorous Independent Testing

SALT LAKE CITY—March 12, 2014
(NYSE: USNA)

How can you trust the supplements you are taking? One way is to make sure they are third-party tested and approved! You can count on that with joint-health-supporting USANA® Procosa, which recently underwent thorough testing to determine the product's strength, purity and disintegration.* ConsumerLab.com independently tests health products to help consumers and healthcare professionals make safe purchasing decisions. USANA's Procosa was analyzed for glucosamine content, lead, arsenic, cadmium levels and its ability to disintegrate or break apart.

“Over 70% of @USANAinc's products are manufactured in-house at our #FDA Drug Establishment, which allows us to control the quality, safety and efficiency of our supplements,” said Jim Brown, USANA's chief operations officer.

Procosa is a joint health supplement that delivers vegetarian glucosamine to help maintain and protect healthy cartilage. It's formulated with vitamin C, manganese and other nutrients important to supporting optimal joint health.*
